EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.

President Desires to Have Legislation Covering a Number of Important Subjects.

HOUSE AND SENATE LEADERS.

They Argue That Long Session of Next Congress Will Afford Ample Opportunity.

Special Correspondence, Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 .- An extra session of Congress seems to be assured for the early spring. The president desires to have legislation on the statute books covering a number of important matters and he is not mealy nouthed in telling his desires to his friends. The leaders, however, in both senate and house are opposed to an extra session. They argue that there will be ample time in which to pass necessary legislation not only affecting Panama canal but tariff revision which now seems certain to come about dur-ing the long session of the Fifty-ninth Congress which ordinarily would begin on the first Monday of December, 1905, The president, however, believing that slation is demanded for the control of the Panama canal, particularly having relation to the establishment of a stem of courts and laws for the government of the strip is emphatic in his declaration that an extraordinary session of the Fifty-ninth Congress should onvened very shortly after the ternination of the Fifty-eighth Congress. Realizing the responsibilities which have been placed upon him by the vote of the country, President Roosevelt is keeping with his whole life, determind that his administration shall be not for the accomplishment of results affecting the happiness of the country. tended that it will be impossible to enact any portion of the legislaon of the large problems which confront the American people. Tariff re-vision in the Philippines is demanded and the president, it is understood, will insist that the Republicans shall not shirk their responsibilities. Then again eciprocity with Canada is bound to oc-upy considerable attention, but to just what extent the Republicans will go toward bringing about closer trade relations with our neighbor on the north is problematical. One thing, however, is absolutely assured, and that is that fariff revisionists will have a large following in the Fifty-ninth Congress, and that the slogan that was heard during the recent campaign, "Let the ends of the tariff revise the tariff" gives promise of being insisted upon Speaker Cannon, who is now at Dan ille, Ill., resting from his arduous la-ters on the stump, is expected to ar-rive in Washington the latter part of pext week for a consultation with the ident. The speaker's closest assoclates believe that he will set his face firmly against an extra session or prespeaker was during the recent camign while swinging around the circle, ather it was in Nebraska, Thio, West rginia or Maine, he drove home two arguments-one on the stand pat doc-trine; the other in opposition to rectprocity in competing products, which is generally taken to mean Canadian recampaign Eugene S. THE COAST TEAMS FOR NEXT SEASON

Colorado College Defeated at Cum mings Field by the Score Ot 43 to 0.

UTAH HAS WONDERFUL TEAM

Ends Season With Brilliant Victory Outclassing Teams of All Mountain States - Maddock to Remain,

Utah may now emulate the noble example of the great Alexander and weep for more worlds in which to star. Colorado college may have walloped Denver University, and may have tied the Colorado miners, but she was not in the game with Utah for a single minute at Cummings field Thanksgiv-

Utah stands preeminently now the champion of the great mountain states. Her record entitles her to the consideration of the best material Stanford and Berkeley can put up, and in the midst of Thanksgiving gratitude comes the cheering announcement that with Maddock back again for coach next year, and the line-up practically unchanged in its important positions, Utah will plan her next season to give Manager Riser said today in reference in this new move: "We did not want to go after Stanford and Berkeley this year because our team was not seasoned. It was only two months ago that they were as green as grass, and had absolutely no hope for developing into anything. But next year we are going after the big teams-not in the hope of victory, but of playing coast teams the best she's got.

a game at least in their class." The game yesterday was not a flerce football contest, for the showing of one side has hardly anything in its favor, There was just a little kick-off, a few rapid plunges, possibly a spectacular run, and then the band played while Bennion tried for goal after a touch-down. If Colorado college received the ball on the kickoff or won it in scrim-mage, she seldom held it for more than the three downs allowed by law in which to demonstrate her ability to advance it five yards. At the end of play Colorado college had to join her sister at Denver, and her neighbor in Mon-tana and Wyoming, and Logan, as members of a class that could not score against Utah, and that was clearly outplayed by her.

UTAH IN POOR FORM.

Utah did not play in good form. Anderson showed plainly in his tackling the effect of his injured knee, while the whole team was bruised and sore from the previous Saturday's hard work against a vastly heavier opponent.

Add to this the fact that the time of On a fumble the ball went to Utah on was shortened 15 minutes from that allowed in the rule book, and it will be seen that the score of 43 to 0 represents a minimum of Utah's possi-

Colorado college played good football, Her chief advantage was also her downfall, for tiger-like she sprang into the plays, her line got the jump on the Utah line time and time again, and her backs leaped into every hole. But this was what Utah was hoping for, it gave her a chance to work the hurry up method in its perfection, and despite Colorado's rapid work Utah simply film-flammed her off her feet.

A FLIM-FLAM GAME.

The game was almost a problem in psychology rather than in brawn, for whenever Colorado rushed to meet an instinctive to the trained player, the emergency wasn't there, but was speed ing down the field through some open ing left by the Colorado players in their rush to block a man who didn't have

Utah was splendid in her head work, and individual starring. There is not a man on her team against whom criticism can be offered. If it came to punting Bennion could gain 30 yards on an exchange any time. In the first half he kicked an exhibition goal from the middle of the field. In playing the hurry game his kicking was a decisiva help. Instead of sending the oval far up in the air so that it would drop slowly down into a waiting player's arms, he drove it swift and low so that to catch it was almost impossible. and while the opposing players were trying to recover it as it bounded along the ground. Utah's interference could work its way down and force the into play with the length of the field between it and Utah's goal line.

If there was a fumble Pitt and Wade and Peterson and Russell were quick in pouncing upon it, and taking every advtanage of the fluke. If Colorado had the ball Utah solved their play before it got well started, and planted the right man almost every time.

If Utah's backs were exhausted by heavy line plunging, Carlson could be brought into action for a guard back formation and do the trick as though he were a specialist in the field instead of in the line.

of in the line. In interference every Utah player knew his game. There was never a runner downed because a team mate wasn't doing all he could do help him along, and no emergency that wasn't taken to its full advantage. In these departments of the gamerunning, kicking, line work and interference, Utah played exceptional ball. It is a rare thing in football when a single team excells in all of them. Yes-terday, for instance, the Colorado team was lamentably weak on kicking, al-though strong in all other particulars.

VICTORY FROM FIRST DOWN.

field of rooters. Their faith in the Utah team had not been screwed up to the sticking point. At the kickoff Bennion booted the ball far down into Colorado territory, and everybody held their breath while they watched what Utah would do against the first Colorado rushes. Quarterback Johnson gave his signals, then there was the rush of the opposing lines, the heap of men as the backs piled on, and then the great cheer of the bleachers as they realized Colorado had failed to gain. A second down with no gain sent the rooters wild, as they saw a forecast of victory already in sight. A weak punt on third down gave Utah the ball, and then in just two minutes Pitt was over the goal line for the first touchdown the goal line for the first touchdown. The intervening yards were crossed by a series of line bucks in which Utah gained easily. First the shoestring pass to Russell was tried but a short throw enabled Colorado's men to down him before he got under way. Then Russell went at the line for 10 yards, followed by Bennion and Wade for good gains. On the fourth down a bob talks. gains. On the fourth down a bob-tailed end run let Pitt through between guard and tackle, and he passed behind spien-

GUARD CARLSON STARS.

From that moment till the last min-ute of play Utah had things complete-ly her own way. The next touchdown was made by Carlson on a guard back play, after Peterson had distinguished himself by driving through the line for two six-yard gains, and Russell, Pitt. Bennion and Wade had brought the ball down to the five-yard line, in a series of plays that netted small gains, and of plays that netted small gains, and against which Colorado spent her whole rength fighting for a last chance of copping an overwhelming victory.

For the third touchdown Russell did his star work of the day. After Ben-nion on the kickoff had made a goal from the middle of the field, and Colorado had taken her privilege of a punt out from the 25-yard line Utah started an attack of Colorado's goal from the middle of the field. Peterson made three powerful bucks, Russell, Wade, Brown and Pitt each took a turn for short gains, then Peterson broke through and netted 15 yards bringing the ball to the 20 yard line,

RUSSELL PLAYED HARD.

Here the ball was passed to Russell and he headed in through tackle. the line he was stopped, then he freed himself, and was tackled on the 15 yard ine. He didn't mind that, but straightarmed a man in front of him, shoole himself loose from the tackler, and squirmed his way through a mass of players for the whole 15 yards to the goal line, making the touchdown amid deafening chorus from the rooters. The fourth touchdown was enlivened by only one incident. On the five yard line Utah lost the ball in scrimmage and Colorado had another chance to prove that she could not advance it When it changed hands again on fumble Carlson was sent over for the touchdown. The half ended with the ball well on the way to another touchleaving the score 22 to 0 in Utah's favor.

COLORADO BRACES.

The second half opened with Colorado's team convinced that it was whipped hopelessly, and the half was spent in merely trying to prevent a whitewash. Utah piayed Fleishman instead of Hope at tackle in order to give the new man a chance to gain ex-perience, and incidentally his college emblem, Later in the game Farnsworth went in at center for similar reasons, On the kickoff, Mack, Colorado's fullthe 25 yard line, and Russell beat down Colorado's defense for a gain of 10

PETERSON A STAR MAN.

On the second play the ball went over the line in the arms of Peterson, after a ten yard buck that clinched the reputation he had been gathering through the game as a coming star.

The score stood 27 to 0.

Colorado fumbled in receiving the kickoff, and Brown got the ball. For once Colorado held and held hard, She did not want to be beaten off the map, and fought with a courage born of des-peration. When Utah's bucking and running failed she called in her kick-ing, and despite the splendid work of Colorado in holding the ilne, Bennion booted the ball squarely over the goal posts on a kick from placement on the 25 yard line. This raised the score to to 0, while the half was yet young. Russell got the next kickoff on the yard line, and by a speciacular roken field run took it to the middle of the field, where misfortune in a couple of trick plays forced a punt. A few moments later Colorado was forced to moments later Colorado was forced to do likewise, and Utah got the ball on her 40-yard line. Utah then bucked her way clear across the field to a touchdown, making her last five yards in bucks that netted but slight gains. The ball rested once on the 1-yard line and again on the 1-foot line before it was forced over by Peterson. Score 37 to 0.

TIED THE LOGAN SCORE.

The crowd now began to realize the sweeping proportions of the victory, and that Utah was administering her skilful rival as severe a drubbing as she gave to Logan. They looked for the score to run up past that of Logan, but a final touchdown brought the two scores to exactly the same point. The last score came on a 50-yard run by Anderson, who gathered in a fumble at the middle of the field. There was no Colorado player with speed enough to overtake him. Just as the half closed Bennion tried to place kick from the middle of the field, and missed it only by a few feet, the ball going to the east of the posts, but high enough for a goal.
